

I approve of ARRL's petition on the amateur radio restructuring. My only thought is instead of "grandfathering" tech-plus and technician licensees, after the restructuring those licensees must take a written exam to upgrade to general. Morse Code is used by licensees that want to use it, code should be dropped as a requirement for all classes. If the question pool is kept a secret how are people going to study for the tests?